Mr. J. Klahr Huddle
Assistant Director, R&E
Central Intelligence Group
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Mr. Huddle:

It has been a most interesting conference, which I am grateful to have been able to attend. [redacted] will bring with him a brief MS report on it, which he intends to incorporate in a report to the Director. He will furnish you a copy, and on my return I shall make a more extensive report to you. Nothing has developed which should be reported with greater urgency, although I have gained valuable background information.

The time of my return cannot yet be predicted as closely as I would wish, partly because I am in the hands of the medicos and cannot foretell when they will permit me to fly. High flying outbound has caused an annoying, but not painful, congestion in my Eustacian tubes which the Post Dispensary has been unable to clear. Only today have they referred me to the Base Hospital. This isn't as bad as that may sound, but it keeps me grounded for the time being.

During next week I expect to visit [redacted] by car with [redacted] and to go to [redacted] by train. I doubt that I shall reach [redacted] before the weekend and don't know how long it will take to get passage homeward from there, but I do hope to reach home before the 24th.

Greetings to all in O.R.E.

Chief, Intelligence Staff, ORE

PS I have been definitely grounded for 10 days to two weeks - still hope to make it home by the 24th.
